Student Captains

Over the next couple of weeks the student body will have the chance to decide on who will be their Student Leaders for the next 12 months. This is a very important decision to make as the leaders we choose will be the "face" of Lake Illawarra High to the rest of the community and will be responsible for working towards making school the best it can be for ALL students.

This year we will be choosing two Captains and two Vice Captains. Every student and staff member will have one vote to decide who will fill these extremely important positions. On Thursday 4 September during period 4 the candidates will address the entire school at a special school assembly. Following these speeches a secret ballot will take place.

I am extremely proud of the quality of person that has nominated for these positions and am sure they would all be very effective leaders for our school. I wish all of the candidates the very best.

Junior Olympic Games

This week sees one of our finest off to the Junior Olympic Games in Europe to compete in the 500m and 1000m Kayak competition. Jayde Bagnall in Year 11 has already proved what a champion she is by being able to combine her very intense training regime with her studies and still managing to keep on top of things. On behalf of everyone at Lake High we wish Jayde every success over the next couple of weeks.

Hockey Dad

The school is also extremely proud of Billy Fleming and his band Hockey Dads recent successes. Billy too has combined a very hectic tour schedule with his HSC studies and has managed to still come out smiling!

Well done!

Over the last few weeks I have had the very real pleasure of writing home to several parents regarding the honesty that their sons/daughters have displayed here at school. I have done this because students have found phones, wallets (in one instance containing over $400 in cash) and keys and instead of keeping them or throwing them away, they have returned them either to me or to another teacher so that they can be returned to their owner. This type of behaviour is typical of the vast majority of students here at Lake Illawarra High. You are a great credit to the school, your family and most importantly yourselves.

Have a great fortnight!
Tony Hicks
Principal
Year 12 Students

I wish all our Year 12 students good luck in their trial HSC, the exams are into the second week now. It is important the Year 12 use the remaining three weeks of school wisely. This should be a time to reflect on areas that may need improving and seeking help from their teachers to make these changes. It is not a time to wind down and relax because it is too late to make improvements before the HSC, because not only do we have three weeks of school, but there is also several weeks after this until the exams start.

Once Year 12 have finished exams we have a short break before Year 11 start their yearly exams in week 9. It is the end of the preliminary course for Year 11 and it will be time for the move to start the HSC from term four. Good luck Year 11.

Monitoring

Letters for half term monitoring will go out this week, your student may get a letter if they are above average in 3 or more of their subjects, congratulations to these students, keep up the good work. Students will also be receiving letters if they are unsatisfactory in three or more subjects, it is crucial that students find out off their teachers why they are unsatisfactory and what they need to do to get back to a satisfactory level.

Uniform

We are continuing to work on getting students into full school uniform and appreciate your co-operation with this. It can be more difficult during the cooler months with clothes taking longer to dry. We do acknowledge a very high percentage of students come in full uniform every day and thank the parents for the effort this takes. The warmer weather is on its way, this should make it easier to maintain correct school uniform.

Subject Selection

The subject selection process is underway for Year 8 into Year 9 and Year 10 into Year 11. It is important that students select carefully as they are choosing a two year course of study.

The breakfast club has been operating for several years now, set up by a former Teacher at our school Mr Trevor Burnett. Our very own students within the Sports Committee at our school are continually running this program, under the assistance of Mr Olender and the support of both Teachers and Staff.

The breakfast club program operates every Tuesday and Thursday morning in the cooking rooms before roll call and every student can access breakfast free of charge.

Thanks to our very generous fundraising received through the Shellharbour Club ‘Club Grants’ scheme.

So next time you wake up late, forget to have breakfast or just have to leave home too early to fit it in. There’s an opportunity to start the day with Breaky!.

It is not just students who can find the HSC year a very stressful and difficult time. During interviews with students, teachers and parents it was suggested that family members also need support during the HSC year. They want to help but are often fearful of appearing to interfere.

This is frequently the year during which, in addition to sitting for the HSC, Year 12 students may:

- lose interest in school
- have no plans for after the HSC
- develop an intense relationship with a boyfriend or girlfriend
- gain a driver's licence
- experiment with legal or illegal drugs
- have a part-time job
- be a member of a sporting team
- develop an eating disorder
- suffer from depression

All these are complications which can cause parents and caregivers additional concern. It is important to be aware that you are not alone.

Below aims to help parents and family members gain an understanding of:

- what is involved in sitting for the HSC
- where to find necessary information
- how to support a Year 12 student
- how to prepare, not just for the final examination, but also for after the HSC.

Helping your Year 12 student through the HSC

The following is part of an address delivered by Richard Cracknell, Counsellor and District Guidance Officer, at a Year 12 parent evening in Inverell.

"The most obvious forms of support parents can offer are the practical, physical things:

- Provide a good place to study. Ideally it should be quiet, a comfortable temperature, with good ventilation, good lighting, adequate desk or table space and free from distractions such as TV, noise, a telephone, interesting conversations, little brothers and sisters.
- Provide good, balanced meals.
- Encourage sensible levels of sleep and some form of regular exercise.
- Encourage moderation in late night parties and alcohol consumption.

Less obvious but of equal or perhaps greater importance are the things you can do to provide a positive and understanding emotional environment.

- Be supportive and encouraging.
- Highlight strengths and successes. Encourage your child not to dwell on failures. Reframe failures as "mistakes" and encourage them to see mistakes as something we can learn from, something that can give positive directions for remedial action.
- Appreciate that most students will be experiencing quite a high level of stress, frequently without any obvious indicators. Many fear that they might let their family down. (Beware of setting unrealistic expectations). Others fear that they will not be able to match the performance of siblings or relatives. There are also many pressures other than examination pressures. Many students experience a sense of impending departure: leaving home, leaving lifelong friends, the prospect of having to live in an alien city environment.
- Appreciate that it is normal for people under pressure to become supersensitive and explosive from time to time. Family members are usually the first targets. Try not to overreact to such outbursts.
- Avoid confrontations especially over minor matters, like leaving lights on, leaving the lid off the toothpaste and not doing chores.
- Don't panic when they announce on the evening before the examination that they know nothing. (Reassure them, even if you think they could be right. "Just do the best you can. We know you're giving it your best shot." is a good standby.)
- Avoid nagging. (That doesn't mean you can't give a nudge or gentle reminder from time to time. Note that sometimes one parent can do this more successfully than the other.)

- Encourage confidence by reassuring them. If you have doubts, keep them to yourself.
- Be realistic in your expectations as to where the HSC leads. For the majority of HSC students, university study is an unrealistic option.
- Encourage your child to seek help from teachers or the school counsellor if he or she is having any difficulty with subjects, study organisation, stress or anxiety about examinations.
- Make reasonable concessions, such as release from some household chores as study programs become more demanding. (However, you should only do this because you want to, not as a means of "blackmail").
- Encourage a reasonable balance between work and leisure. Planned leisure periods are an essential component of a good study program. An occasional total escape for a few days may also be excellent therapy for a student who is feeling stale or excessively stressed.
- Take an interest in what your child is doing, if he or she will allow you to (some won't). This can include the subjects or topics being studied, how he or she has organised study timetables and programs and leisure pursuits. (Note: "Taking an interest in" does not mean interfering.)
- Remember the occasional hug and "I love you" do not go astray, even when they are 18 years old.
- Encourage and allow your child to be as independent as you can possibly stand. The more independent he or she can be in meeting the demands of Year 12, the better prepared he or she will be to succeed at a tertiary level or in the workforce.

Having said all this:

Year 12 students:
Try to understand when we behave in a less than supportive and encouraging way. Chances are that it stems from the fact that, as your parents, we care too much.

Some rationalisations

Finally, it is inevitable that some students or parents will be disappointed when the HSC results finally arrive and the Year 12 student fails to achieve as well as he or she had hoped. Should this happen in your family some of the following rationalisations may be of help:

1. Tertiary education is not the only path to a successful and fulfilling life.
2. Look at how much growing up you've managed to do over the last two years. You are much better prepared to leave home and go out into the world now than you were two years ago. It certainly hasn't been a waste of time.
3. If you really want to go on to tertiary education later there are many other pathways. Interestingly, the success rate of mature age students is much higher than for those who go straight from school.
4. Once you've got yourself settled into a job or a training course somewhere you'll probably never look at your HSC again; it'll probably just sit in the bottom drawer and gather dust.
The Education Act 1990 requires your child to attend school each day that instruction is provided unless prevented for doing so by sickness or another approved reason. The Principal will only grant leave for the following instances:

- Sickness where the absence is satisfactorily explained as being due to illness
- Misadventure or unforeseen event
- Domestic necessity such as serious illness of an immediate family member
- Attendance at funerals
- Recognise religious festivals or ceremonial occasions

If a student is absent, a note explaining the absence should be handed in to the roll call teacher on the first day of their return. The explanation should contain:

1. Date that the note was written;
2. Student’s name
3. Days/dates the student was absent from school
4. The reason why the student was absent
5. The signature of the student’s parent or caregiver.

Students can collect an absence note book from their roll call teacher or the Front Office Staff. This makes absence note writing easy as it ensures all relevant information is given to the school.

Parent/s and caregivers are required by law to provide a written or verbal explanation to the Principal within seven days of any absence as to why their child was not at school. It is important that the school receives a written or verbal explanation because:

1. It is the parent’s legal obligation to explain their child’s absence within seven days
2. It is a requirement that the school investigate all unexplained absences
3. It is the way the school knows your child was legitimately absent and not truanting from school.

Failure to explain your child’s absences within seven days of their occurrence will result in an unjustified absence being recorded. This will be displayed on your child’s report.

It is important for parents to make attending school a priority. Allowing children days off for birthdays, to look after younger children, to go shopping, to keep you company or because they were tired from a late night, not only send the wrong message to your child, it is against the law. Children who get used to having days off school for these kinds of reasons develop an attitude that their attendance at school is not very important. This can become a big issue as a child gets older.

An attendance rate of 95% or above is a good target. This equates to no more than three days absent per term.
